THIS IS YOUR PRIVATE SAFARI EXPERIENCE PACKED WITH AMAZING BIRD SIGHTINGS...

A Birding Safari in a Luxury Private Game Reserve offers many advantages... Fewer vehicles, traversing off the main roads so you get closer to the sighting, you can get off the vehicle to set up the spotting scope to view raptors and you can enjoy evening viewing of nocturnal birds. Walking in the bush also offers another dimension altogether.

The Lodge itself is a good birding base especially in the summer months when woodland kingfishers and red-headed weavers nest in the camp.

The Timbavati has an abundance of large diurnal raptors. Cuckoos and their antics with their brood hosts are a regular sighting, and the Great Spotted Cuckoo is common due to the prevalence of its host the Burchells Starling. While out exploring the Drakensberg escarpment Blackfronted Bush Shrike or Narina Trogon would be a great find.

Birding at Kings Camp is best in Summer (October to March) when migratory birds are present. It is a frenetic time when birds breed and males are in their summer breeding plumages. A three day record spotting is standing at around 175 species found across the various habitats in the reserve.

Birding outside of Summer is thoroughly enjoyable with more comfortable temperatures. Sightings include host of resident birds such as Hornbills, Rollers and Shrikes.

In July, August and September Owls are breeding and can be located on their nests. Verraux's Eagle Owl is the easiest one to spot – they have a deep grunting call which carries long distances. They attract a lot of unwanted attention and are harassed by Grey Goaway birds. These owls often make use of Vulture or Wahlberg Eagle nests.
